To whom it may concern,

I'm pleased to tell you about Gordon Ridge, whom has worked as an animator and technical director throughout Foundation Imaging's involvement with "Roughnecks: The Starship Troopers Chronicles" and "Max Steel."

Gordon came to Foundation with the intent of being a modeller. However, we quickly found our needs for modellers fulfilled. Gordon was asked to tackle animation tasks on the shows mentioned, and he had no objections. He was driven enough to get his skill set up to par with other veteran animators, and his hard work and dedication to the job made him a truly indispensable--and inspirational--member of our team.

I heartily recommend Gordon Ridge to your company. His abilities, work ethic, and endurance for the very trying production schedules of these shows are all qualities that any employer would admire.

Sincerely,
